

IL-PubServ - An online publication server for the works of Ian Levenfus.

To have a reliable way to offer and spread my publications online, I established IL-PubServ (Ian Levenfus Publication Server), hosted on levenfus.com. The IL-Pubserv is accessible through pubserv.levenfus.com and ian.levenfus.com. Both subdomains lead to the same website.

All works published through IL-Pubserv or under the IL-Pubserv brand (IL-Pubserv as publisher and usually with the IL-Pubserv logo) are also available for free download on the publication server.

Works published under the IL-Pubserv brand may also be available through other vendors (e. g. GRIN). However, they may have an altered version of the original publication. All vendors officially permitted to offer one of my publications, are shown on IL-Pubserv on the page of the respective publication.

In some cases, the full text of the publication is shown on IL-Pubserv, in other cases, only the abstract is shown and a full text PDF-file is offered.

Works which are published in scientific journals or books, e-Books etc. usually cannot be offered on IL-Pubserv for a free download or as full text. In this cases, the publication is only listed with an abstract. Additionally, a link to the website of the vendor where the paper or the book can be downloaded or ordered is provided.

As I cannot influence the price policy of other vendors, there will be works listed here which are not available for free download. However, at least an abstract of every publication will be provided here for free and you will find many full publications without any fees, whereas you would be charged for the same publications in other places.

In some publications listed here, I may just be the co-author.

Visit IL-Pubserv and stay tuned for news and new publications!